work applied to everything he took on, and he set a high standard. Our customers, and all of us who worked with John, benefitted from his leadership and commitment. I will miss him greatly, but I wish him a long and happy retirement.”

One of Mr. Hovsepien’s proudest accomplishments was managing an NRG Energy power facility in 2000 and expanding Total-Western’s relationship with NRG to service their remaining facilities throughout the state of California, setting the foundation for the company’s Power Division.

“I am truly blessed to have worked for Total-Western as long as I have,” said Mr. Hovsepien.
